Employment is with the Research Foundation of SUNY, a private, nonprofit, educational corporation that administers sponsored program activity for the University at Albany.

Description of Duties: The Center for Human Services Research is seeking a Researcher to conduct quantitative analyses of data collected for evaluations of social service initiatives. Areas of focus are education and early childhood development, family and children services, children's mental health, and youth development and juvenile justice. Responsibilities include creating and manipulating databases to store, track, and analyze data on research subjects, including merging data from various sources; using advanced multivariate statistical techniques to analyze the impacts of programs and to identify client characteristics and other factors that mediate or moderate program effects; developing grant proposals; writing technical reports and delivering presentations; and preparing manuscripts for publication in peer-reviewed journals.

Minimum Qualifications:

1. Master's Degree from a college or university accredited by a USDOE recognized organization in social sciences, social welfare, public health, sociology, education, psychology, public administration, criminal justice, or related areas
2. Five years research experience in program evaluation or social science research
3. Demonstrated expertise in the use of advanced, multivariate statistical methods
4. Extensive experience using statistical software packages such as SPSS
5. Experience writing grant proposals
6. Demonstrated ability to work with a culturally diverse population

Preferred Qualifications:

1. PhD from a college or university accredited by a USDOE recognized organization
2. Experience with mapping software

Persons interested in the above position should submit a resume along with a cover letter by e-mail to dcarner@albany.edu or mailed to the address below. Please specify Job Number R in your cover letter.
